CODE OF CONDUCT

DEAR COLLEAGUES

We all face difficult situations during work, and as individuals, we tend to interpret incidents in different ways. It is not always easy to decide what is the right thing to do. That is why we have supplemented our values with a Code of Conduct.

The Code of Conduct is our way of doing good business responsibly. It builds on our culture and values and directs us to appropriate behaviour. Combined with our values and common sense, the Code of Conduct provides the basis for all of our behaviour.

We want our company to be perceived as honest and trustworthy by our employees, customers, suppliers, business partners and society in general.

How you act and conduct business matters. We are all representatives of our brand. Your actions have an impact on STARK Group.

To support our efforts to act ethically and responsibly the Code of Conduct outlines:

- how we act
- how we work together
- how we handle external relations

With your help, I am confident that STARK Group will continue to build trust amongst our colleagues and external stakeholders.

Thank you for joining me in this effort.

How we act

HOW WE ACT

OUR WAY OF DOING BUSINESS

STARK Group companies are built on a solid foundation of integrity and our core values of decency, passion and pride. Every one of us at STARK Group must strive to preserve this foundation by acting accordingly every day.

Integrity is critical for STARK Group. We strive to be seen as honest and trustworthy by all our employees, customers, suppliers, partners and society as a whole. As part of our values, we have the privilege to take responsibility in our daily work life and the power to influence our business.

Some of the decisions we face are difficult and requires us always to use our sound judgement and common sense to act in the right way. By doing so, we live our values, which will impact the image and reputation of the STARK Group companies in a positive manner.

In short, we simply want to do what is right – for ourselves and the STARK Group operations everywhere.

The STARK Group Code of Conduct describes the daily behaviour we expect from every one of our employees to ensure compliance and high ethical standards across companies in STARK Group. The Code addresses how we, as STARK Group employees, relate to each other, customers, partners, suppliers, public authorities, and other organisations.

EVERYONE MUST FOLLOW THE STARK GROUP CODE OF CONDUCT

The Code of Conduct applies to all employees at STARK Group. We expect our business partners, suppliers and contractors to adhere to our Code of Conduct or adopt similar ethical standards. The use of the term Code refers solely to the Code of Conduct that you are now reading.

EXTERNAL STAKEHOLDERS

STARK Group is committed to high standards of corporate governance, transparency and responsibility and does not contribute in any way to parties or political organisations.

BREACH OF THIS CODE

Any breach of this Code may be considered a disciplinary matter and could result in disciplinary action up to and including dismissal. It is therefore of critical importance that you read and understand this Code.

WHAT WE EXPECT OF EVERYONE

Many business decisions may involve ethical dilemmas. This Code cannot address every possible situation. It is crucial that employees identify and recognise when they are in a difficult ethical situation and seek assistance as appropriate.

While the principles in this Code are intended to help guide you in the normal course of your work, they are not a substitute for common sense and proper internal consultation.

Comply with the Code and the law

Everyone working for STARK Group is subject to laws in many different jurisdictions. We refer to this set of legal requirements as the law in the Code.

We are all expected to comply with the law and the Code. In the unlikely event that the Code is perceived to conflict with the law, the law always prevails over the Code.

Each of us must understand the Code and take personal responsibility for complying with the Code as well as the law. Whenever we work in STARK Group, we use our sound judgement and common sense.

If you are in doubt about any of your actions, simply ask yourself the following questions:

- Is it consistent with the Code?
- Is it ethical?
- Is it legal?
- Will it reflect well on me and STARK Group?

If the answer is no to any of these questions, do not continue your actions. Whenever you are uncertain, always ask for guidance.

The Code describes some situations that you will encounter in your daily work, but it cannot address every situation.

If in doubt you should always seek help from one of the below mentioned:

- Your manager
- Our senior manager responsible for your location (e.g. branch, warehouse, office etc.)
- Our risk manager or human resources representative

If you still have serious concerns and feel these need to be addressed urgently and with the strictest confidentiality, post a message to our Speak Up system. You will find full contact details at the last page of this Code.

WHAT WE EXPECT OF LEADERS

STARK Group leaders shall lead by example and promote a culture of common sense and ethical behaviour at all times.

All leaders must ensure that the employees under their leadership understand their responsibilities under the Code.

Leaders at every level must work proactively to keep the STARK Group culture and values a living reality. This is an integral part of the leadership role.

ers. To ensure a relevant assortment of products that continuously meet market expectations and follows product development, we consistently offer a broad range of eco-labelled products.

We encourage all employees to conduct their work with regard to the highest sustainable practices, which covers environmental, social and economic topics.

STARK Group employees must take the necessary precautions to protect themselves, fellow employees, visitors, customers and people working on STARK Group premises.

To safeguard everyone's health and safety, employees must immediately report accidents and unsafe working practices or conditions to their manager.

How we work together

WE SAFEGUARD INFORMATION AND RESPECT PRIVACY

STARK Group's trade secrets and other sensitive commercial information must be kept confidential.

Information is an important business asset for STARK Group and provides a competitive advantage. Information must be protected to avoid unwanted disclosure that may harm STARK Group's business operations, the STARK Group's brands or other stakeholders.

STARK Group obviously respects the privacy of employees and others, including suppliers, customers and visitors.

STARK Group employees must safeguard all STARK Group intellectual property and confidential information, including everything from contracts and pricing information, marketing plans, technical specifications and personal information.

All STARK Group employees who handle confidential information must act in accordance with relevant laws as well as STARK Group rules and standards.

HOW WE HANDLE EXTERNAL RELATIONS

WE ALWAYS REPRESENT OUR BRANDS

Employees representing STARK Group on business travel, at meetings, events and on social media are always seen as ambassadors for the STARK Group brands.

As private individuals employees can engage in any political, religious or other activities, as long as they ensure that their views are not perceived as being those of STARK Group.

WE WELCOME COMPETITION

STARK Group's businesses and employees must comply with all competition and anti-trust rules in the countries in which we operate.

We welcome and encourages free and open competition in the market place, and STARK Group's businesses will compete vigorously but fairly and legally.

Each business unit must have a formal process of educating its management on the competition and anti-trust laws that are applicable in their countries with regular reviews to ensure that management teams keep their knowledge up to date.

WE MUST AVOID CONFLICTS OF INTEREST

STARK Group employees must avoid situations where personal interests could conflict, or appear to conflict, with STARK Group interests.

A conflict of interest occurs when the private interests of an individual interferes in any way – or even appears to interfere – with the interests of STARK Group. Conflicts of interest also arise when an employee or immediate family members receive improper personal benefits because of his or her position within STARK Group.

STARK Group employees must always consider the impact of their own personal external relationships on their position at that of STARK Group. This will help to identify situations that may potentially lead to conflicts of interest and prevent them from happening.

Assessing whether there is a conflict of interest can be difficult. If in doubt, always ask your manager, risk responsible or human resources partner for guidance.

Concealing a conflict of interest might be considered fraudulent.

WE FIGHT CORRUPTION

STARK Group has zero tolerance towards all corruption in any form. We do not permit bribery of any person involved in the Group's business or any customer, supplier or business partner of STARK Group.

We define corruption as the misuse of an official position by STARK Group employee for unofficial and personal enrichment, and/or the enrichment of others, through bribery, fraud or favour. Such conduct is always improper and, in most cases, unlawful.

No one acting on behalf of STARK Group may accept or offer bribes, kickbacks, facilitating payment, fraudulent financial reporting or other corrupt practices when conducting STARK Group business.

All such persons are required to comply strictly with all ethical rules and standards and applicable law.

We expect our business partners to uphold similar principles for fraud risk management.

BRIBE

A bribe is a reward, advantage or benefit made to influence and/or secure an improper advantage. The amount of the bribe offered or paid is irrelevant, and it need not actually be paid.

KICKBACK

A kickback (e.g. the payment or receipt of payment in return for securing a contract) is a form of bribe.

FRAUDULENT FINANCIAL REPORTING

A fraudulent financial reporting is a manipulation of vendor rebates, false sales, delaying or avoiding expenses.

FACILITATING PAYMENT

A facilitating payment is a relatively small payment or gift to an official or government employee made to expedite routine services or administrative actions to which the company would already be entitled. Such payments should not be made in any circumstances.

An example would be a payment to speed up the processing of a permit to do business in a country.

WE NEVER REQUEST IMPROPER GIFTS AND HOSPITALITY

STARK Group employee or family member should never accept or solicit or give (directly or indirectly) any improper gift or hospitality.

Accepting hospitality from, or providing entertainment to, third parties is acceptable if it is reasonably related to a clear business purpose, transparent in the organisation and modest.

It is recognised that the giving and receiving of business gifts is an integral part of the way in which some businesses operate.

For the purposes of this Code, hospitality and gifts can include travel, accommodation, social or sporting events or other benefits received or given in the context of providing or receiving gifts and hospitality.

Every STARK Group business unit should keep a register of gifts and hospitality. If you are in doubt, always ask for guidance and advice.

WE PROTECT OUR ASSETS

STARK Group time and assets are not supposed to be used for the personal benefit of coworkers or the benefit of anyone other than STARK Group's businesses. Circumstances may allow additional personal use of certain STARK Group assets.

Use sound judgement and always check the relevant rules and standards to ensure that STARK Group assets are being used as intended.

Acts that involve theft, fraud or any other misappropriation of assets belonging to STARK Group businesses or any employee is strictly prohibited.
